Animal Testing Statement

January 2020

None of the films manufactured by Sigma Stretch Film undergo animal testing. Some of Sigma's raw material suppliers are required by law to use animals in testing in order to protect public health and the environment; in those cases the suppliers participate in the accreditation process promoted by Association for the Assessment and Accreditation of Laboratory Animal Care (AAALAC) International - a private, non-profit organization that promotes humane animal care and use in science, which is considered the gold standard of laboratory animal care programs.

Please contact your sales representative if you have additional questions.
