EU Directive 2015-720

EU directive 2015-720 was adopted in 2015 with the goal of reducing the consumption of lightweight plastic carrier bags; the directive does not pertain to stretch films. Sigma Stretch Film has taken the lead in the stretch film industry in reducing plastic wrap in the waste stream via offering education at it's Packworx facility and it's Rite-Gauging methodology which promotes proper pallet unitization.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Jeff Garcia", is positioned above the printed name.
